

CLASS OF 1873

Rutgers College

HISTORY TO 1917

This pamphlet has been sent to you with the compliments of the Class of 1873, Rutgers College. If it proves acceptable an acknowledgment of its receipt will be gratefully appreciated by

WILLIAM A. CHAPMAN,
P. O. Box 27,
Montreal, P. Q.

CHRONICLES of the
Class of 1873
RUTGERS COLLEGE

Compiled by
WILLIAM ALLEN CHAPMAN
June, 1917.

Penciled corrections by W.A.C.

L II 4752

. 6

1873

~~Give~~

Compilers

n. 17. 17

Classical Section

Graduates

—o—

ROBERT ADRAIN.

Died in New Brunswick, N. J., January 30, 1911.

Son of Garnet B. and Mary Smith [Griggs] Adrain, he was born in New Brunswick, N. J., December 17, 1853, and resided in that city all of his life. His father, a graduate of Rutgers, A.B. 1833, A.M. 1836, was a very prominent lawyer in New Brunswick, and a Member of Congress from New Jersey, 1857-61. His grandfather, Robert Adrain, A.M. (Queen's 1810), LL.D. (Columbia 1818), was a mathematician and professor in Queen's, 1809-13; Columbia, 1813-25; Rutgers, 1825-27; Univ. of Penna., 1827-34; Vice-Provost Univ. of Penna., 1828-34; born in Ireland. Another Robert Adrain was his father's brother, who graduated at Rutgers, A.B. 1827, A.M. 1830; was a lawyer, District Attorney of Middlesex County, N. J., 1836; Surrogate, 1864.

He attended Rutgers Prep School; entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Phi; played baseball; was a Junior orator; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876, and took a post-graduate course, 1883-84. He read law in his father's office; was admitted to the bar of New Jersey as attorney 1876, as counselor 1885; and then practiced his profession from offices in New Brunswick and in Newark, N. J. As a Democrat he represented Middlesex County in the Senate of New Jersey, 1888-94; was President of that body, 1891-94; Colonel on staff of the Governor, 1890; Prosecutor in Middlesex County, 1890-91; Corporation Attorney for City of New Brunswick, 1910-11.

He was twice married. First, at Newtown, Long Island, N. Y., May 20, 1874, to Fannie N. Beekman of New York City. Of this marriage there were born, Robert, who died in infancy, and Fannie Beekman, who survives (1916). Second, on December 25, 1884, to Jennie, daughter of William Rowland of New York City and of Dean's near New Brunswick. One son, Robert, now surviving, was born of this union.

FREDERICK ERNEST ALLEN.

Brook Haven, Long Island, N. Y.

Son of George Dennis Allen, merchant, and Elizabeth Ann Peck, he was born in New Haven, Conn., April 21, 1850. His father was of the seventh generation in descent from John Alling, a settler in that town prior to 1652, and his mother of the ninth generation from William Peck, one of the founders in 1638.

Before entering college he resided in Cheshire, Conn., Orange, N. J., Madison, N. J., 1858-65; Newark, N. J., 1865-68, where he was employed in a jewelry factory; attended the academy at Madison, 1858-64, and the one in Morristown, N. J., 1864-65; and his further education for the ministry was assumed by the First Church of Newark (Ref. Ch. of Am.), 1868-76.

He entered Rutgers in 1869; won first prize as a Sophomore orator; was a Junior orator; and in Senior year won the Suydam Prize for English composition, also the Cruikshank Prize for the best speech at graduation, when he delivered the Valedictory Oration (Rhetorical Honor). He was corresponding secretary of Delta Upsilon; in Senior year an editor of The Scarlet Letter; senior editor of The Targum in third term; and a member of the "Original Football Team." He graduated from Rutgers, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; from New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1876; resided in Brookfield, Conn., 1876-77, and in New York City, 1877-78, while pursuing a post-graduate course in Union Theological Seminary.

Licensed to preach by the Classis of Newark (Ref. Ch. of Am.), May, 1876, he was ordained May 29, 1879, and installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Middle Island, L. I., N. Y., which he served till 1892; was pastor of Congregational Church, Griswold, Conn., 1892-1906; and of Presbyterian Church at Brook Haven, L. I., N. Y., since 1908; Moderator of Presbytery of Long Island, 1880 and 1906; Delegate to Synod of New York, 1881, 1886, 1909; Commissioner to General Assembly, 1889. He remodeled and refurnished the Congregational Church at Griswold, and has published the sermon preached in October, 1896, at the funeral of Deacon Joseph Edward Leonard of that town. He is a Republican.

He married, at Middle Island, March 29, 1889, Ada Amelia, daughter of Elbert Jotham and Martha [Randall] Swezey. There are no children.

HERBERT BOGGS.

Residence, 333 Ridge Street, Newark, N. J.

Office, 790 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

Son of Rev. Edward Brenton and Elizabeth Dunham [Deshler] Boggs, he was born in Swedesboro, Gloucester County, N. J., June 3, 1853. His father was a non-graduate member of the class of 1842, Rutgers, a graduate of Union Theological Seminary, 1845, and a Protestant Episcopal clergyman, D.D. (Rutgers, 1866). His mother was an aunt of Charles Deshler, non-graduate, class of 1885, Rutgers.

In childhood and youth he resided in Swedesboro, Bedford in Westchester County, N. Y., and New Brunswick, N. J., where he attended Rutgers Prep School, 1867-69. He entered Rutgers in 1869, graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; read law in the office of Parker and Keasbey, Newark; was admitted to the bar of New Jersey by the Supreme Court of Trenton, as attorney, 1876; as counsellor, November, 1879. He practices law in Newark, where he has resided since 1873; is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church; and enjoys angling. A Democrat, he has been Corporation Attorney, City of Newark, 1900-03; again 1911-14; and Assistant Attorney General of New Jersey since 1914.

He married, May 9, 1893, Frances May, daughter of Henry and Fanny [Van Buren] Le Viness, and has a daughter, Helen Cranstoun, born September 21, 1894.

GEORGE HULL CLEVELAND.

Died in Brooklyn, N. Y., February 22, 1906.

Son of Orin L. Cleveland, an insurance agent, and Catherine E. Niemaster, he was born in New York City, May 27, 1851. At an early age he united with the South Congregational Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., and before entering college he resided first in that city and later in Williamstown, Mass. After preparation at Williamstown and in Rutgers Prep School, he entered Rutgers in 1869, graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876, also from New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1876, and was ordained the same year by the Classis of New Brunswick (Ref. Ch. of Am.).

He was pastor of the church at Clinton Station (Ref. Ch. of Am.), Annandale, N. J., 1877 till 1881, when he resigned because of ill health, and traveled in England and France, 1881-82; stated supply to the Presbyterian Church, Cape May City, N. J., 1882-85; pastor of Presbyterian Church, Northport, L. I., N. Y., 1886-89, and then, retiring from the active pastorate, became a teacher, first in a military school in New Jersey, afterward in a school at College Point, L. I., N. Y. Shortly before his death he removed to Brooklyn. ~~He never married.~~

WILLIAM WYNKOOP COOK.

Rolla, Missouri.

Born at Churchville, Pa., November 21, 1843, he attended "a good country school in boyhood," and later the State Normal School, Millersville, Pa., 1867-69.

In 1869 he entered Rutgers from Richboro, Pa.; in Junior year won the Van Doren Prize for Essay on Christian Missions, the Schermerhorn Prize for Composition, and election to Phi Beta Kappa; in Senior year the Suydam Prize in Natural Science and the Philosophical Oration (Third Honor), at graduation; was president of the Classical Section of the class in Sophomore year, and senior editor, The Targum, first term, Senior year.

He graduated from Rutgers, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; from Union Theological Seminary, New York City, 1876; was ordained by the Classis of Philadelphia (Ref. Ch. of Am.), May 8, 1876, in that city; was pastor of the Fourth Church (Ref. Ch. of Am.) in Philadelphia, Pa., 1876-81; clergyman attached to the Northwest Iowa Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, October, 1881; an ardent and active participant in the prohibition movement in Iowa; retired, 1897, to his domain of "sixty acres of Ozark mountain air and scenery" at Rolla, Missouri. He is the author of pamphlets: "Usury in the Light of the Bible and History," Republican Print, Rockwell City, Ia., 1887; "Purity Established by Knowledge," Index Press, Hull, Ia., 1891; "Springtime Life Lessons," 1911.

He married, at Churchville, Pa., September 8, 1875, Sue D. Richardson. They have one daughter living in the Province of Alberta, Canada; a son in Minnesota; and another son, a mining engineer in Ecuador, S. A.—all married.

GEORGE RILEY DIXON.

Died in Ridgway, Pa., June 11, 1912.

Born in the town of Neversink, Sullivan County, N. Y., July 23, 1848, the son of Henry and Catherine Dixon, natives of Dutchess County, N. Y.; orphaned at the age of thirteen years, he found a home with Dr. J. L. Lamoree, of Grahamville, N. Y., working for his board and clothing, and attending the village school, 1861-66; graduated at the academy in Monticello, N. Y., June 20, 1868; attended Rutgers Prep School one year, 1868-69.

He entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Upsilon; was a member of the "Original Football Team"; a Sophomore orator; won the Van Doren Prize for Essay on Christian Missions in Senior year; was an orator at Commencement, and graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876. "While in college he supported himself largely by giving special lessons in English to Japanese students, who were sent to the institution by order of the government of Japan."

"In September, 1873, Mr. Dixon came to Ridgway, where he was principal of the schools two years. In May, 1875, he was elected county superintendent of the schools of Elk County, which position he held for twelve years; began the study of law with Rufus Lacore at Ridgway, and spent considerable time likewise in the law office of George A. Rathbun, and May 30, 1878, was admitted to the bar. On December 4, 1884, he purchased the Elk Democrat and ran that journal successfully for several years"; and he published in 1876 "a complete history of school education in Elk County." He was an elder in the Presbyterian Church; a member of Knapp Commandery of the Knights Templar, and a Democrat, being several times chairman of the county committee of Elk, and representing that county four terms in the Pennsylvania Legislature, 1893-1901.

He married, in September, 1874, at Napanoch, N. Y., Louise, daughter of Horace and Susan [Kenyon] Eaton. Mrs. Dixon died ~~long ago.~~ Oct. 28, 1897. Children: Mabel Eaton, born September 17, 1876, died March 3, 1911; Clark Kenyon, born March 20, 1878 (?), manufacturer, Ridgway, Pa.; 1888 Helen Louise, born June 6, 1881; married Edwin R. Buenzle, dealer in investment securities, Allentown, Pa.

(Extracted or adapted, in part, from The Daily Record, Ridgway, Pa., June 13, 1912.)

CHARLES PIERSON DORRANCE.

Residence, 519 Riverside Drive, New York City.

Office, 35 Nassau Street, New York City.

Born in Carbondale, Pa., May 25, 1852, a son of John and Rhoda Schenck [Golden] Dorrance. His father was of the fifth generation in descent from George Dorrance, an emigrant from the Province of Ulster, Ireland, and a settler in Voluntown, Conn., about 1720, and was a merchant in Freehold and mayor when he died in 1885. His great-grandfather, Captain David Dorrance, an officer in our War for Independence, was a charter member of the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Connecticut. His brother, John Golden Dorrance, M.D. (Coll. P. & S., 1879), is a non-graduate of the class of 1878, Rutgers.

In childhood and youth he lived in Carbondale, Pa.; later in Freehold, N. J., where he attended Monmouth Institute, 1859-65, and Freehold Institute, 1867-68, and was in Rutgers Prep School, January-June, 1869.

Entering Rutgers in 1869, he joined Chi Phi and was president of the Peithessophian Society; was an orator at graduation, and graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He studied law at Freehold in the office of Judge William Henry Vredenburg (Rutgers, A.B. 1859, A.M. 1862, LL.D. 1907, Trustee 1902); was admitted to the bar of New Jersey as attorney, June, 1876, as counsellor, June, 1879, and of New York as both, 1882; has continued the practice of law, and was U. S. Commissioner for New Jersey, 1878-87.

He is a Republican; was nominated for New Jersey Legislature in 1880, but declined to run. Favorite recreation is bowling.

Residences since leaving college: Freehold, N. J., 1873-76; Eatontown, N. J., 1876-77; Long Branch, N. J., 1877-80; New Brunswick, N. J., 1880-86; New York City since 1886. He is connected with the Reformed Church of America and attends the West End Collegiate Church.

He married at New Brunswick, N. J., April 10, 1878, Libbie Letson Acken, whose father, William Henry Acken (Rutgers, A.B. 1851, A.M. 1854), was president of the New Jersey Rubber Co., and whose mother was Mary S. Letson, daughter of Johnson Letson of New Brunswick, a Trustee of Rutgers, 1863-85. Their only child, Edith Acken Dorrance, born July 21, 1879, married, October 27, 1903, Herbert Bradley Sexton of Evanston, Ill., and has three children, Edith Dorothy, Herbert Bradley, Jr., and Dorrance.

JOSEPH ALEXANDER HARPER.

Died at Scarsdale, N. Y., 1917.

Born in Lisnatierny, County Down, Ireland, September 20, 1839, the son of Alexander and Eliza Ann [Lowry] Harper. His father was a patentee and manufacturer of winnowing machines. He came to the United States in 1850, residing first in Morrisania, N. Y., then in Mount Vernon, N. Y., where he attended the public school and Oakley Institute.

Entering Rutgers in 1869, he won Honorable Mention as a Sophomore orator; was assistant editor of The Targum in second term of Senior year; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1875; was licensed to preach by the Classis of New Brunswick in May, 1875, and ordained one month later by the Classis of Westchester, N. Y., both of the Reformed Church of America. He has continued his connection with that denomination; has been particularly energetic in building, renovating and furnishing church edifices; and has ministered to the following churches, all in the State of New York: Cortlandtown (Montrose), 1874-89; Mount Vernon, 1889-93; Greenville (town of Greenburg), 1893-1905; Schaghticoke, 1905-09; Olmsford, 1910-11. He has resided in Scarsdale since 1911 and is pastor of a church which he organized in 1913. In 1884, as delegate of the General Synod, Reformed Church of America, he attended the Pan-Presbyterian Council convened in Belfast, Ireland, and then "had the time of his life" touring through the British Isles.

In secular activities he was associated (in New York City, 1899-1906) with J. H. Johnston, jeweler, corner of Broome street and the Bowery, and was vice-president of J. H. Johnston & Co., dealers in diamonds and silverware, Union Square.

He was Chaplain of Diamond Lodge, No. 595, F. & A. M., at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., 1896-1905, and Prelate of Bethlehem Commandery, No. 93, Knights Templar, at Mount Vernon, 1903-06; is a Republican; and confesses to "a liking for a horse."

He has been twice married. First, at Mount Vernon, N. Y., October 4, 1860, to Lovena Lindsley, daughter of James S. and Sarah [Price] Van Court of New Brunswick, N. J. Mrs. Harper died March 6, 1895. Children: Charles Wallace, born November 10, 1863; Grace Eveline, born April 2, 1867; Edith Lovena, born June 10, 1877; May Wharton, born May 9, 1879. Second, November, 1896, to Laura I., daughter of Aaron and Elizabeth [Underhill] Seeley and widow of Seaman Archer.

HOWARD HARRIS.

Died in Los Angeles, Cal., January 13, 1916.

Born in Belleville, N. J., July 29, 1848, the son of Elijah Harris, he entered Rutgers in 1869 after preparation under private tutors; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1876, and "in the same year the Classis of Newark licensed him and the Classis of Westchester ordained and installed him as pastor of the church at Hawthorne, N. Y. There he served eight years. In 1884 he was commissioned by the Board of Foreign Missions to go to Japan, and for sixteen years he was professor at the Meiji Gakuin at Tokyo (1884-1900). Returning to America, he again served the church at Hawthorne, N. Y., for six years (1904-10). Then going to California, he became instructor in the Oriental Department of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles. After four years in this position he had charge of a Japanese church at Kahului, Hawaiian Islands, for another year (1914-15). His health compelled his return to California, and there he died after a few months of illness. Mr. Harris was a faithful servant of Christ, a loyal friend and true brother in the Lord. His work through the grace of God was a noble one."

He married, November 15, 1876, Elizabeth B. Disbrow of New Brunswick, N. J., who survives.

(Minutes of the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America.)

DANIEL TRIMBLE HAWXHURST.

Died in Kingsbridge, New York City, January 10, 1915.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., December 12, 1852, a son of Joseph Woodward and Jane [Schanck] Hawxhurst. His father served his country as quartermaster in the army during the Civil War.

He prepared for college at Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, N. J., his home being then in Marlboro, N. J.; entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Upsilon; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Junior year; was one of the "Original Football Team"; as First Honor Man he delivered the Latin Salutatory upon graduating, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; and he attended New Brunswick Theological Seminary one year, 1873-74. He resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., 1874 to 1878, then in Kingsbridge until his death. Politically he was a Republican.

For many years he was a vestryman, and for a shorter period treasurer of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Messiah in Kingsbridge.

As an accountant he entered the employ of Haynes, Bacon & Co., wholesale drygoods merchants in New York, 1875, and continued to serve them and their successors, Bacon, Baldwin & Co., afterward Bacon & Co., for forty years, advancing until he became chief of their clerical staff.

He married in Kingsbridge, June 13, 1878, Isabel Smith. They had three children: Elliott T., born July 29, 1879; Grace Fulton, born April 29, 1882 (deceased); and Florence Belle, born December 18, 1884. Mrs. Hawxhurst survived his demise only two months.

PETER VERHOEVEN HUYSSOON.

Died in Orange, N. J., December 11, 1916.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., October 13, 1852, a son of Rev. James and Catherine Maria [Verhoeven] Huyssoon. His father was a minister of the Reformed Church in America in Paterson, N. J., and both parents were of Dutch origin.

He lived first in Holland, Mich., and attended Hope Prep School there for three years; then he lived in Paterson, N. J., and after one year in Rutgers Prep School entered Rutgers, 1869; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Junior year; was an editor of and contributor to The Targum; a member of the "Original Football Team"; and a Commencement orator when he graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He resided in Lawrenceville, N. J., 1874-78, while teaching in the Lawrenceville School; in Brooklyn, N. Y., 1878-90; and in Orange, N. J., 1890-1916; was head of Latin and Greek Department of Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, 1878-87; part owner and president of Dwight School, New York City, 1887-90; with Union School Bureau, 1890-95; and was part owner and sometime manager of Fisk Teachers' Agency, New York City, 1895 until his retirement in 1915. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange; a Republican; a member of the New England Society of the Oranges; an occasional contributor to periodicals, and a connoisseur in gardening and poultry raising.

He married in Elizabeth, N. J., October —, 1878, Kate Franklin, daughter of John P. and Mary E. [Franklin] Sunderland of that city. They had one daughter, Clara May, born December —, 1879, who is now the wife of Paul F. Handel of Orange. Mrs. Huyssoon survives.

GEORGE SHARP KNICKERBOCKER.

27 Mount Morris Park West, New York City.

Born at Red Hook, Dutchess County, N. Y., September 11, 1849, a son of Edwin and Catherine E. [Pitcher] Knickerbocker, and continuing his residence there, he prepared at Riverside Seminary, Germantown, N. Y.; entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Phi; was an editor of The Scarlet Letter, 1873; an orator at Sophomore Ex., at Junior Ex., and at graduation, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; entered College of P. & S., Columbia University, 1873; graduated M.D. 1876; has been a physician ever since. He has resided in Stockbridge, Mass., 1877-83; Albany, N. Y., 1883-84; and in New York City since 1884. He was Medical Superintendent of New York Institution for Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb for one year, 1884-85, and Attending Physician to Knickerbocker Hospital, 1886-1906.

He married, November 7, 1878, Isabel, daughter of Joseph C. and Cornelia [Whitney] Canning. Their children are: Joseph C., born 1879; Edwin V. B., born 1881; Reginald C., born 1883; William E., born 1885.

Relatives among Rutgers alumni: Cousin, David Mulford Knickerbocker (deceased), A. B. 1870, A. M. 1873; cousin, Rev. Charles Wadsworth Pitcher, class of 1873; brother, William Edwin Knickerbocker, class of 1875; nephew, Edwin Knickerbocker Losee, A.B. 1885, A.M. 1888, M.D. 1888 (Coll. P. & S.); nephew, Harvey Losee, A.B. 1889, M.D. 1898 (Univ. N. Y. Med. Coll.); grandnephew, Edwin Lamb Losee, Litt.B. 1916.

BLOOMFIELD LITTELL.

Residence, 46 East Park Street, East Orange, N. J.

Office, 71 Wall Street, New York City.

Born in Hoboken, N. J., July 29, 1852, the son of John Dunn and Julia E. [Bloomfield] Littell, he has resided in East Orange since childhood. The founder of the Littell family in New Jersey came from Newbury, Mass., to Elizabethtown in 1676. Bloomfield Littell's great-grandfather, Judge Dunn of Richmond County, N. Y., was succeeded on the bench of that county by his grandfather, Richard D. Littell. His father was a lawyer in Hoboken, 1848-61; served two terms as District Attorney of Hudson County, and two as member of the New Jersey Assembly; and was Judge Advocate on Governor Price's staff. His mother was a daughter of Smith Bloomfield of Metuchen, N. J. (a benefactor to Rutgers in 1865), and Ann Delamater, a descendant of Claude Delamater, sometime Mayor of Harlem, New York City.

He studied in Rutgers Prep School one year, 1868-69; entered Rutgers 1869; played on the football team; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; read law in the office of Tremain & Tyler, New York City; graduated LL.B., Columbia, 1875; was admitted to the New York bar, May, 1876, and has practiced his profession ever since. He has been president of the First Ward Republican Club and trustee and member of the executive committee of the First Ward Local Interest Club, both of East Orange. He joined the Reformed Church of America in Metuchen in 1872, and became an elder in the Bethel Presbyterian Church in East Orange in 1914.

He married in Cheshire, Conn., June 7, 1900, Olive F., daughter of George E. Tucker. Their children are: Frances Bloomfield, born December 13, 1902; and Robert Stuart Delamater, born October 5, 1905.

Relatives among Rutgers alumni: Uncle, William Bloomfield (deceased), A.B. 1828, A.M. 1831; cousin, Charles Smith Bloomfield (deceased), class of 1874; second cousin, Howard Weston Bloomfield, B.Sc. (C. C. N. Y., 1901), Cr.E. (Rutgers, 1916).

ADRIAN VANDERVEER MARTENSE.

Died in Brooklyn, N. Y., January 3, 1898.

Son of Jacob Van Brunt and Eliza Ann [Vanderveer] Martense, he was born in Flatbush, Long Island, N. Y., November 5, 1852. His father was an alumnus of Rutgers, A.B. 1844, A.M. 1847, and a farmer in Flatbush, who died December 16, 1881. His mother was a daughter of Adrian Vanderveer, M.D., "a prominent and well-known physician." Another graduate of Rutgers, John Duffield Prince, Jr., A.B. 1876, A.M. 1879, (Columbia, LL.B. 1878), was his cousin and brother-in-law.

He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., January 15, 1885, Ella, daughter of William Brown of Melrose Park, Flatbush. She died November 4, 1896, leaving no children.

He resided in Flatbush before entering college, and after preparation at Erasmus Hall Academy in that town he entered Rutgers in 1869; was president of the Classical Section of his class in Senior year, and an orator at Commencement when he graduated, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876. After a two years' course in Columbia Law School, New York City, he graduated LL.B. 1875; was admitted to the bar in Brooklyn in June, 1875, and thereafter practiced his profession in that city, where he continued his residence until his death.

"He was of a jovial disposition, and in the Midwood Club . . . there was none more popular than he. . . . He was a man of much natural ability, kind of heart, and very charitable, but unassuming. He was a familiar figure in Flatbush, being tall, with broad shoulders and very erect, as was his father. Mr. Martense was active in organizing the Knickerbocker Field Club, a member of the Midwood and Crescent Clubs, and prominent in the Flatbush Reformed Church, where he was formerly a deacon, and at one time clerk of the consistory. He was a director of the Flatbush Improvement Company."

ABRAM IRVING MARTINE.

Died in Pine Bush, N. Y., December 3, 1916.

Of Huguenot descent in the paternal line, his father a produce merchant, he was born in Clarkstown, N. Y., October 19, 1848, a son of Jeremiah and Charity E. [Crum] Martine; lived on a farm there and attended the local school till 1865; and was in the service of the mercantile firm, E. S. Jaffray & Co., of New York City, 1865-68.

He attended the Rutgers Prep School, 1868-69; entered Rutgers 1869; was director of the College Choir; secretary and treasurer of the Philoclean Society; member of the "Original Football Team," and later captain; and was an orator at Commencement when he graduated, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He graduated from New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1876; in June of that year was licensed to preach by the Classis of Paramus, Reformed Church of America, and in July was ordained by the Classis of Philadelphia. He was pastor, Mount Pleasant Church (Ref. Ch. of Am.), Stanton, N. J., 1876-82; pastor, North Hempstead Church (Ref. Ch. of Am.), Manhasset, L. I., N. Y., 1882-91; pastor, Presbyterian Church, Dunellen, N. J., 1891-99; pastor, First Church of Freehold (Ref. Ch. of Am.), Marlboro, N. J., 1899-1905; superintendent, General Hospital, Passaic, N. J., 1905-08; pastor, Little Falls, N. J. (Ref. Ch. of Am.), 1908-11; pastor, New Prospect Church (Ref. Ch. of Am.), Pine Bush, N. Y., 1911 until his decease. He was president of the Temperance Association, also of the Bible Society, of Hunterdon County, N. J., and president of Queens County, N. Y., Sunday School Association; editor of "Bi-Centennial Celebration of the Reformed Church of the Navesink" (P. F. Collier & Son, 1904); and author of "Historical Address of One Hundred Years of the Reformed Church of New Prospect," November 4, 1915 (synopsis in The Christian Intelligencer, December, 1915).

He was independent in politics, and athletic by taste and habit, being especially fond of football, baseball and tennis.

He constantly displayed a "youthful activity of mind that made him a good companion always. As a minister of the Gospel of Jesus Christ he was devoted to his work; conscientious in all that he did; faithful to every trust; efficient in all that he undertook; loyally ministering in the name of his Lord, and bearing witness to a godly character."

He was twice married. First, at Whitehouse, N. J., November 16, 1876, to Annie M., daughter of Cornelius and Mary Wyckoff, and sister of John Newton Wyckoff, Rutgers, A.B. 1874, A.M. 1877; Harvard, LL.B., 1877, who died November 2, 1880. Children: George Newton, born August 3, 1877; Irving Wyckoff, born August 11, 1879; Mary E., born October 26, 1881; Elizabeth A., born October 12, 1884. Second, at Locust Valley, N. Y., August 3, 1888, to Olivia B., daughter of Oliver and Sarah [Burton] Gaston and widow of William Chandler.

JOHN DE WITT PELTZ.

Died in Albany, N. Y., May 7, 1904.

Son of Rev. Philip and Mary [De Witt] Peltz, he was born June 26, 1853, in Cossackie, N. Y. His father, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, A.B. 1845, A.M. 1848; of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1848; D.D., Union, 1866; was a minister of the Reformed Church of America, who died June 26, 1883; and his mother (born February 19, 1819; died January 15, 1903), was a daughter of Rev. John De Witt, A.B. Union College and College of New Jersey 1809; D.D. Union College 1821; he was Professor of Belles Lettres Rutgers College 1825-31; and Trustee of Rutgers College 1823-31; died October 11, 1831; and sister of Rev. John De Witt, Rutgers, A.B. 1838, A.M. 1841, D.D.

1860; Lafayette, LL.D. 1882; Columbia, Litt.D. 1888; professor in New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1863-92; who died October 19, 1906.

He attended the Academy in New Paltz, N. Y., where his boyhood was chiefly passed while his father was pastor of the local Reformed Church; entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Phi; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Junior year; was a Junior orator; won the Brodhead Prize for excellence in Classics, 1873, and the English Salutatory (Second Honor), when he graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He studied law in the office of the late C. P. Collier at Hudson, N. Y.; graduated LL.B. from Albany Law School, 1876; was immediately admitted to the bar of the State of New York; entered the law office of his cousin, the late Abraham V. D. De Witt, A. M. (Rutgers, Hon. 1859), and practiced law thereafter. He resided in Albany, N. Y., 1876-87; Colorado Springs, Col., 1887-90, and was City Attorney there; Albany again, 1890-1904.

He was a Republican; a vestryman of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church in Albany; and shortly before his death was elected a trustee of Rutgers but did not qualify. His son writes of him:

"Father was always a hard worker, and during the last years of his life it seemed to all of us that he carried an unfortunately heavy load of other people's troubles. . . . I think I am within the fact when I say that this lovable, tireless and efficient young man of fifty was mourned very generally by his townsmen and many friends."

He was twice married. First, in Albany, April 21, 1881, to Mary Marvin, daughter of the late William Law Learned, LL.D., Presiding Justice of the General Term, Supreme Court, State of New York. She was born April 16, 1856, and she died November 23, 1888. Children: William Law Learned, born May 27, 1882, a graduate of Yale 1904, and a lawyer of Albany; married, April 29, 1906, Katherine, daughter of the late Edward R. Hun, M.D., and has four children. Philip, born April 20, 1884, died March 26, 1892. Second, in Albany, April 5, 1894, to Catherine Barnard, daughter of the late Augustus H. Walsh of that city. Children: John De Witt, born January 27, 1895; Yale, class of 1919. Catherine Walsh, born July 20, 1897.

CLAUDIUS ROCKEFELLER.

Summer Residence, 604 Gifford Place, Hudson, N. Y.

Winter Residence, Saint Petersburg, Fla.

Office, 403 Warren Street, Hudson, N. Y.

Born in Germantown, N. Y., September 4, 1849, a son of Philip H. and Elizabeth [Miller] Rockefeller, he was of the fifth generation in descent from Diel Rockefeller, the first of the name in America. His father was a farmer and both parents were descendants of refugees driven by the French from the Palatinate of the Rhine, who settled at Germantown in 1710.

He attended Riverside Seminary in Germantown, 1865-69; entered Rutgers 1869; joined Delta Upsilon; was one of the "Original Football Team" and captain in Senior year; was awarded a prize by the Philoclean Society for Freshman declamation; a Sophomore orator; elected to Phi Beta Kappa and won the Bradley prize in mathematics, both in Senior year; and was a Commencement orator when he graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He studied law in the office of Gaul & Esselstyn at Hudson, N. Y., entered Albany Law School 1875, and graduated LL.B. in May, 1876; was admitted to the New York bar in Albany, May 8, 1876; and has continued to practice law in Hudson until, in recent years, the curtailment of his activity by ill-health. He is connected with the Reformed Church of America; is a Democrat, and has served as Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue under President Cleveland; Recorder of the City of Hudson, 1890 and 1891; and member of the Board of Education, 1890-95; Trustee and Treasurer of Hudson City Hospital for many years; Trustee of Hudson Building and Loan Association, also for a long time; and was associate editor of "Transactions of the Rockefeller Family Association."

Ezra Doane De Lamater, Rutgers, A.B. 1871, A.M. 1874, a lawyer of Hudson, was married to his sister.

He married in Hudson, June 4, 1879, Lucinda, daughter of Sherman and Clarissa [Rich] Van Ness, and sister of Sherman Van Ness, Jr. (deceased), Rutgers, A.B. 1880, A.M. 1883; Coll. of P. & S., M.D. 1883. Children, born in Hudson: Harold, October 23, 1881; Sherman Van Ness, October 27, 1884, a graduate of Troy Polytechnic Institute.

JOHN RYLEY.

Died at Valley Cottage, N. Y., March 20, 1892.

Born March 18, 1852, in a region of Rockland County, N. Y., now called Valley Cottage, a son of William and Sally [Ryder] Ryley, he became an orphan at the age of nine years and the sole survivor of the family of four children. His father was a merchant, who by his will appointed as his son's guardian Rev. Peter J. Quick (Rutgers, A.B. 1833, A.M. 1836), then pastor of the Reformed Church of America at Clarks-town, N. Y., who removed with his ward to New Brunswick, N. J., in 1869, to assume the office of rector of Hertzog Hall, New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

Mr. Ryley entered Rutgers in 1869; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; studied for one year in Eastman's Business College, and thereafter occupied himself with the care of the estate left by his father and in assisting others in legal and business transactions.

He resided at Valley Cottage continuously after 1873, excepting one year, 1875-76, at Pearl River, N. Y., and filled various township offices, notably that of Justice of the Peace. At the time of his death he was, and had been for several years, an elder, also treasurer, of the Reformed Church in Clarkstown, and a member of the Board of Education, Reformed Church of America. He was esteemed "a man of sterling qualities and wise judgment, and deeply interested in the affairs of his church."

He married in Pearl River, N. Y., August 4, 1875, Sophia Frances, daughter of Jacob Cornelius and Elizabeth Priscilla [Ackerman] Haring. Children: Mabel, born July 6, 1876 (married — Polhemus); Edna, born January 4, 1878; Carrie, born September 7, 1879; William Haring, born July 18, 1884.

ISAAC STRYKER SCHENCK.

Skillman, N. J.

Born on his father's farm in Weston, N. J., April 26, 1852, a son of Josiah and Catherine Elizabeth [Stryker] Schenck, his youth was spent in Millstone, New Brunswick, East Millstone (all in New Jersey); Raritan, Ill., 1862-65; New Brunswick again, 1865-76. He prepared at Rutgers Prep School; entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Delta Upsilon; was a Commencement orator when he graduated, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; and graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1876. He was licensed to preach by the Classis of New Brunswick, 1876, then for about a year he supplied the church at Ramsey, N. J., and was ordained, 1877, at Rosendale, N. Y. He was pastor of two churches of the Reformed Church of America, one at Rosendale, 1877-80, the other the Second Church of Ghent, West Ghent, N. Y., 1880-96; retired in 1896 because of illness, and has resided since in or near New Brunswick without charge.

Two brothers were also graduates of Rutgers and of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary: Rev. Jacob Wyckoff Schenck (deceased), A.B. 1870, A.M. 1873, and Rev. Cornelius Schenck, A.B. 1879, A.M. 1882, Ph.D.

He married in New Brunswick, in 1877, Joanna Wilson Ten Eyck. Children: Elbert Edgar, born 1879; Eliza Voorhees; Jacob W.; Israel Edgar; Willard Earl.

JOSEPH WALWORTH SUTPHEN.

Died in Brooklyn, N. Y., November 2, 1902.

His father, Ten Eyck Sutphen, a merchant of New York City, was a descendant of Dirck Janse Van Zutphen, who left Zutphen in Gelderland, The Netherlands, and settled in New Utrecht, Long Island, N. Y., in 1651. His mother, Harriet White, was of New England stock, English ancestry. A brother, Rev. Paul Frederick Sutphen, is a graduate of Rutgers, A.B. 1876, A.M. 1879, D.D. 1893.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., January 26, 1853, he resided in that borough of New York City all of his life. After preparing in Columbia Grammar and Rutgers Prep schools, he entered Rutgers in 1869; joined Chi Phi; was an orator at Sophomore and Junior exhibitions and at graduation; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Senior year; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; graduated at Columbia Law School LL.B. 1876; was admitted to the New York bar the same year; formed the firm of Sutphen and Lefferts and practiced law in Brooklyn continuously thereafter.

He was a member of the Society of the Church of the Pilgrims of Brooklyn, of the Congregational Club, the Holland Society and the Long Island Historical Society. A Republican, he served as secretary of the Brooklyn Civil Service Commission, 1883-85; and was political secretary for Seth Low during that gentleman's campaign for the first mayoralty of Greater New York.

He married in Evanston, Ill., September 21, 1893, Isabella Van Arsdale. Their only child, Frederick Ten Eyck, was born in 1898.

"He published no books or pamphlets, but articles and very graceful poems in Popular Science Monthly, the Sunday School Times, and elsewhere. In a book of collected verse called 'Musical Moments' there is a peculiarly graceful poem from his pen, entitled 'Euterpe.' He left at his death a collection of poems which he had prepared for publication in book form, but they have never been submitted to a publisher. His literary taste was delicate and refined. He was a man of the highest ideals of honor and integrity, unswerving in loyalty to his friends, generous almost to a fault, and he halted at no sacrifice in the performance of what he believed to be his duty."

—P. F. S. '76.

ALEXANDER GULICK VAN AKEN.

Died at Rhode Hall, N. J., March 28, 1913.

Born January 17, 1852, at Rhode Hall, Middlesex County, N. J., a son of John Van Aken, he entered Rutgers 1869; graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876; graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1876, and the Classis of New Brunswick, Reformed Church of America, licensed him to preach, but he was never ordained. He engaged in farming near his native place, never married, and died suddenly at his brother's home.

IRA VAN ALLEN.

409 Fayette Park, Syracuse, N. Y.

A descendant of Peter Van Allen, who was born in Utrecht, Holland, 1630, and died in Albany, N. Y., 1674, he was born on his father's farm in Bethlehem, N. Y., June 1, 1846, the son of Samuel and Elizabeth [Becker] Van Allen and continued to reside in Bethlehem until 1869. His early education in the local district school was supplemented by one year's attendance at Albany Academy. He was teacher in a district school one winter, 1866, and assistant teacher in Albany Classical Institute two years, 1867-68.

He entered Rutgers, 1869; was house teacher in Rutgers Prep School, September, 1871, to June, 1873; president of the Classical section of his class in Junior year, also elected to Phi Beta Kappa the same year; and delivered the Scientific Oration (Fourth Honor) when he graduated, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

In 1876 he graduated from New Brunswick Theological Seminary; was licensed at Albany, N. Y., May 23, by the Classis of Albany, and ordained at Schenectady, N. Y., July 5, by the Classis of Schenectady, and has continued in the ministry of the Reformed Church of America, excepting when ill-health compelled retirement, 1898-1902. His stations (all in the State of New York) have been: Pastor, Second Church of Rotterdam, June, 1876, to June, 1883; supply, Stuyvesant Falls, June to September, 1883; pastor, Wynant's Kill, September, 1883, to December, 1890; pastor, Owasco, December, 1890, to May, 1892; pastor, Mohawk, May, 1892, to November, 1898; supply, Owasco Outlet (Sand Beach), since May, 1902.

He is a Republican with Prohibition sympathies; has resided in Syracuse since 1898; and has been married twice: First, at New Brunswick, N. J., June 14, 1876, to Phebe Harriott Terrill, who died May 13, 1879. An infant son, Ralph, also died. Second, at Wynant's Kill, N. Y., August 25, 1886, to Minnie A., daughter of Thomas and Polly [Raymond] Cole. A son, George Raymond, born October 17, 1887, died May 6, 1906.

SAMUEL OAKLEY VAN DER POEL.

Died in New York City, April 22, 1912.

His father was S. Oakley Van der Poel, University N. Y., A.B. 1842, A.M. 1845, LL.D. 1877; Jefferson Medical College, M.D. 1845; Surgeon-General State of New York, 1857-61; Professor of General Pathology and Clinical Medicine, Albany Medical College, 1867-72; Health Officer Port of New York, 1872-80; Professor of Public Hygiene, University New York, 1883-86; and Trustee of Rutgers College, 1875-86; who was born February 22, 1824, and who died in 1886. His mother was Gertrude Lansing Wendell. Two of his brothers were students at Rutgers, namely: Herman Wendell Van der Poel, born July 9, 1856; A.B. 1877, A.M. 1880; Columbia, LL.B. 1880; died March 16, 1906; and John Van der Poel, born February 20, 1858; A.B. 1878, A.M. 1881; Coll. P. & S., M.D. 1881.

He was born in Albany, N. Y., August 7, 1853; attended Albany Academy, and Rutgers Prep School one year, 1868-69; entered Rutgers 1869; joined Chi Phi; was a Sophomore orator; a Junior orator; and graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876. He graduated M.D. 1876, at College P. & S., was an interne in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, eighteen months, 1876-77; continued his medical studies in Heidelberg, Germany, and Vienna, Austria, another like period; and returning to Albany, 1880, was granted an Hon. M.D. by Albany Medical College.

While practicing medicine in Albany he was Adjunct Professor of Theory and Practice of Medicine in Albany Medical College, 1880-82, also Attending Physician in St. Peter's and Albany Hospitals; and was appointed a medical examiner by the New York Life Insurance Co. in 1883. Removing to New York City in 1884, he continued his practice, specializing in affections of the nose and throat; became Visiting Physician at Charity Hospital on Randall's Island; Assistant Surgeon in Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital; Specialist in Throat Department of Vanderbilt Clinic; and, April 13, 1898, Medical Director of the New York Life Insurance Co. after successive promotions in the service of that corporation. This last-named post he held until his death.

Dr. Van der Poel was a Republican; a member of Madison Square Presbyterian Church; and was appointed a Trustee of Rutgers in 1910. His recreations were golf and riding. He was a member of the Medical Society of the County of New York; of the Loyal Legion, and of the St. Nicholas and Holland Societies; and his clubs included the Century, University, New York Yacht, Rockaway Hunt, Garden City Golf, Baltusrol Golf and Sleepy Hollow Golf Clubs.

Both of his grandfathers, his father and two uncles were practicing physicians, as is also his surviving brother.

He married in Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., October 20, 1880, Mary Louisa, daughter of William H. and Mary T. [Haines] Halstead, who survives. Children: Samuel Oakley, born August 22, 1881; married Mildred Barclay. William Halstead, born April 16, 1885; married Gretchen Billings.

JACOB OUTCALT VAN FLEET.

West Albany, N. Y.

Son of Bergan Huff and Mary Jane [Sunderland] Van Fleet, born in New Brunswick, N. J., October 31, 1847, he continued his residence there till 1876, obtaining his early education in the public school, and then engaging in the dry goods business for three years in New Brunswick and two years in New York before taking the college preparatory course in Rutgers Prep School, from which he came to Rutgers in 1869. He was president of the Classical Section of '73 in Freshman year; played on the "Original Football Team"; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Senior year, and was an orator at Commencement when he graduated, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary; was licensed at New Brunswick, and ordained a minister of the Reformed Church of America at Kiskatom, N. Y., all in 1876; and has been pastor of the following churches of that denomination: Kiskatom, N. Y., 1876-79; Stone House Plains (Brookdale, N. J.), 1880-83; Montville (Parsippany, N. J.), 1883-89; Little Falls, N. J., 1889-98; New Baltimore, N. Y., 1898-1911; Lisha's Kill (West Albany, N. Y.), since 1911.

He is a Republican. He married at Neshanic, N. J., July 6, 1876, Sarah B., daughter of Samuel Clark and Alice [Beard] Christopher. Children: Martha C., born September 10, 1877; Arietta Van Dorn, born December 6, 1878; Herbert Clark, born January 15, 1890.

PETER VAN VOORHEES.

Died in Camden, N. J., February 25, 1906.

Son of John Schenck and Sarah Ann [Van Doren] Voorhees, he was born June 15, 1852, at Six Mile Run, N. J. His father, a descendant of Steven Coerte Van Voorhees (who came from Holland in 1660 and settled at Flatlands, Long Island, N. Y.), was born March 18, 1812, and was a farmer resident at Elm Ridge, North Brunswick, N. J., who died June 19, 1877. Two of his brothers were graduates of Rutgers, viz., Abram DeHart Voorhees, farmer, B.Sc. 1869, M.Sc. 1872; born March 25, 1848; died January 16, 1911. John Schenck Voorhees, lawyer, A.B. 1876, A.M. 1879; born November 30, 1855; died March 2, 1904.

After preparation in Rutgers Prep School he entered Rutgers in 1869; was captain of the crew; and graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

In 1873 he began a residence in Camden, N. J., which was his home thereafter. He studied law in the office of Peter Z. Voorhees, with whom he subsequently formed a law partnership; was admitted to the bar of New Jersey as attorney 1876, as counsellor 1879; was a very successful practitioner of the law; a Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals of New Jersey, 1900-05; a Republican; a director in various business and philanthropic organizations, including Cooper Hospital; and a vestryman of St. Paul's Church. His recreations were gunning and golf.

He married in Camden, April 20, 1881, Louisa Clarke, daughter of James B. Dayton, and had by her one son, Dayton, born April 23, 1882, who survives.

HENRY D'ERESBY WESTON.

Died March 28, 1917.

Entering Rutgers in 1869, he joined Delta Phi; was a Sophomore orator; a Junior orator; and graduated A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876. While he was in college he dwelt in New Brunswick and it is thought that he has resided in New York City since graduation. Trow's New York Directory for 1916 gives "Henry Weston, lawyer, 170 Broadway, residence 68 West 92d St." It is regretted that repeated requests for information have elicited no reply from Mr. Weston.

Three of his brothers were educated at Rutgers, viz.: Willoughby Weston, broker, non-graduate of the class of 1863; born August 23, 1845; died April 26, 1902. Rensselaer Weston, banker and broker; A.B. 1868, A.M. 1871. James Cronkhite Weston, mining engineer; A.B. 1870, A.M. 1873.

CHARLES SEYMOUR WRIGHT.

7922 Eighteenth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Thirtieth Ward of Brooklyn, N. Y., was formerly known as New Utrecht. There he was born June 29, 1844, a son of Stedman and Ruth [Adams] Wright. His father, a lawyer, was Associate Judge of the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Brooklyn for three years, also for many years an elder in and treasurer of a Reformed Church of America.

While resident in New Utrecht he prepared for college at the public school and under private tutors; entered Rutgers in 1869; was a member of the "Original Football Team"; elected to Phi Beta Kappa in Junior year; and was an orator when he graduated A. B. 1873, A.M. 1876.

He graduated at New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1876; was licensed to preach by the South Classis of Long Island, N. Y., May 29, 1876; ordained in the Flatbush (N. Y.) Church, June 17, 1877; and has retained his clerical connection with the Reformed Church of America, which he has served in the following capacities: Missionary in charge of Flatbush Mission (now Grace Church), 1877-83; pastor of Central Avenue Church, Jersey City, N. J., 1883-1909; president of the Particular Synod of New Brunswick, 1905; member of the Board of Superintendents of New Brunswick Theological Seminary since about 1898; and he retired to private life in 1909.

He married in Waterbury, Conn., February 15, 1877, Harriet C. Upson. Children: Cornelia Gertrude, who married Samuel R. Kelsey, now of Waterbury, Conn.; Ruth Dayton, who married Carson Brevoort of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Non-Graduates

MADISON MONROE BALL.

Berne, N. Y.

A scion of Revolutionary War stock, his father a farmer, he was born in Berne, N. Y., July 12, 1841, a son of John and Maria [Steinburgh] Ball, and has continued to live there, excepting one year's residence in New York City. He attended school in Berne; saw three years of military service in the Civil War; and prepared for college in Knox Seminary and Rutgers Prep School.

He entered Rutgers in 1869; took the classical course through Freshman and two terms of Sophomore years; won second prize as Sophomore orator; was one of the "Original Football Team"; and pulled bow oar, Rutgers vs. Harvard Scientific. He is a member of the Reformed Church of America; a Republican with Prohibition sympathies; and his occupation has been teaching in public schools.

He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 25, 1871, Hester S., daughter of Francis J. and Rebecca V. Z. [Secor] Shafer. Children: Maud Shafer, born May 11, 1873; Blanche Maria, born October 20, 1874; Howard Hamilton, born August 18, 1876; Francis J., born May 28, 1878; Ruth, born January 3, 1880.

Rutgers graduates related to Mrs. Ball are: Rev. Theodore Shafer, A.B. 1879, A.M. 1882; New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1882; Reformed Church of America. Rev. Luman J. Shafer, A.B. 1909, A.M. 1912; New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1912; Reformed Church of America; Missionary to Japan.

JOHN DARCY BENNETT.

Died 1899.

When he signed the matriculation book in 1868 he named as his guardian "Mrs. Sarah Bennett, Magee's Corner, Seneca Co., N. Y.," and as tutor Rev. Jacob R. Van Arsdale, of the Reformed Church of America, Tyre, N. Y. He took the classical course with the class of 1872; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; left college at the end of Freshman year; returned in 1870, and continued with the class of 1873 through Sophomore and Junior years. Nothing definite is known of his subsequent career. At one time he was reported as resident in Seneca Falls, N. Y.; at another as a missionary in Africa. The Rutgers Alumni Catalogue of 1909 makes him a clergyman of New Haven, Mich., who died in 1899.

FLETCHER CLARK.

1411 North 18th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

He was born in Portsmouth, N. H., November 23, 1851, the son of Rev. Rufus Walworth Clark, D.D., who was born in Newburyport, Mass., and was pastor of churches in Portsmouth, Boston, Mass., Brooklyn and Albany, N. Y. His mother, Eliza Walton, was born in Virginia. Wheelwright

Taken from Portsmouth while an infant, he resided successively in Boston, Brooklyn, where he attended the public school, and Albany, where he had private tuition. In 1869 he entered the class of 1873 at Rutgers; joined Delta Upsilon; and followed the classical course till the end of Junior year, 1872. Then he was in Albany, 1873-75; in Philadelphia, Pa., doing Y. M. C. A. work, 1875-76; was ordained to the Congregational ministry in Boston, 1877; and was a minister of that Church in Selma, Alabama, 1877-78. in Boston, 1876
Returning to Philadelphia, 1878, he graduated from the Divinity School, 1885; was rector of a church in Concord, Pa., 1885-88; and has resided since 1888 in Philadelphia without pastoral charge. Montgomery, Pa.
He is secretary of the Liberal (religious) Club; enjoys chess-playing, and is independent in politics. Protestant Epis.

He married in Philadelphia, November 7, 1881, Elizabeth Mattson, a lady of Quaker lineage and widow of — Nyce. Their only child is Lilian Mattson, born November 26, 1884.

Edward Warren Clark, non-graduate of the class of 1869, clergyman, traveler and author, born January 27, 1849, died June 5, 1907, was a brother of Fletcher Clark.

WILLIAM HENRY McKEE.

Coming from Salem, N. Y., in 1869, he was admitted to the class of 1873 in Rutgers as a special student omitting mathematics; did not matriculate; played on the "Original Football Team"; and attended lectures with the Classical Section during two terms—possibly three.

Entries in Rutgers catalogues are: 1909: "Clergyman, LL.D., Detroit, Mich." 1916: "Clergyman, LL.D., Corunna, Mich."

He is reputed to have become a minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The church of that creed at Corunna is under the charge of the General Missionary of the diocese. The secretary to the Bishop of Michigan reports regarding Mr. McKee (November 10, 1916): "He is no longer listed as a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country, and we have no idea of his present whereabouts or any information concerning his past history."

CHARLES HOWARD MILLSPAUGH.

105 Essex Avenue, Bloomfield, N. J.

Son of Alexander Charles and Sarah Ann [Banick] Millsbaugh, he was born in Middletown, N. J., March 25, 1853. His father was a graduate of Rutgers, A.B. 1838, A.M. 1841; New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1841; and a clergyman of the Reformed Church of America, who died December 3, 1885.

After removing to Feura Bush, N. Y., he attended Riverside Seminary, Germantown, N. Y., 1867-68; then Rutgers Prep School, 1868-69; entered the classical course at Rutgers, 1869; was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon; and left college at the end of Junior year, 1872. He is a member of the Reformed Church of America; a Democrat; was a farmer in Wickatunk, N. J., 1876-1901; a produce commission merchant, 1901-10; has been in the real estate business since 1910; resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., 1901-16, and is now resident in Bloomfield, N. J.

He married in Marlboro, N. J., September 15, 1875, Jane Elizabeth Conover. Children: La Fayette C., born August 23, 1876; Josephine S., born November 8, 1878; Ellen C., born August 10, 1881; Charles E., born April 17, 1886.

JOHN HIRAM CONDUCT NEVIUS.

Office, 217 East 38th Street, New York City.

Residence, Rochester, Mass.

Son of Elbert and Maria Louisa [Condict] Nevius, he was born May 30, 1850, in Stuyvesant, N. Y., and continued his residence there till 1871. His father was a graduate of Rutgers, A.B. 1830, A.M. 1834; New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1834; a clergyman of the Reformed Church of America, and missionary to Borneo, 1836-44, who died September 29, 1897. His brother, Benjamin Chalmers Nevius, graduated at Rutgers, A.B. 1867, A.M. 1870.

After preparation in Rutgers Prep School he entered Rutgers, 1869; joined Delta Upsilon, and attended lectures in the classical course during Freshman year only. He was in St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., 1871; Meriden, Conn., 1872-73; New York City, 1874-1906; and has resided in Rochester, Mass., since 1906. From 1872 till 1886 he was a salesman, and has been a manufacturer and merchant since. He is a member of Madison Square Presbyterian Church, New York City; is an Independent in politics; was vice-president of Good Government Clubs, New York City, about 1892; and has contributed articles on political topics to the public press, notably the New York Times and Evening Post.

He married in Fall River, Mass., September 6, 1882, Louisa Holmes, daughter of Daniel and Emma [Holmes] Stillwell. Children: Stillwell, born July 23, 1883; Louise Condict, born February 10, 1886; Richmond, born October 10, 1887; Marian Holmes, born January 24, 1892; John Livingston, born December 28, 1896.

WILLIAM HENRY PAGE.

Supposedly a son of Edward Page, he entered the classical course at Rutgers, 1869; joined Delta Upsilon, and left college 1871, at the end of Sophomore year. He is known to have become an actor, but no details of his career have been discovered by the writer.

CHARLES WADSWORTH PITCHER.

Cloverhill, N. J.

Son of Rev. William and Jane Elizabeth [Wadsworth] Pitcher, he was born in Boylston, N. Y., March 2, 1849. His father, descended from a military officer of the War for Independence, was educated at Williams College and Princeton Theological Seminary, and his mother was a sister of Rev. Charles Wadsworth, D.D., of Philadelphia, Pa.

Before coming to college he resided in South Branch, N. J., later in New York City, and his experience included a clerkship in a New York dry goods shop, one year in Marshall Institute, one year in Somerville Institute, and two years in Rutgers Prep School. Entering Rutgers in 1869, he followed the classical course (omitting mathematics), for four years with the class of 1873, and attended New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1873-75.

He was licensed to preach by the Newark Association of Congregational Churches at Orange Valley, N. J., May 18, 1875, and ordained at Randolph, N. Y., January 26, 1876, by the Congregationalist Council. He has been very successful in evangelistic work and has been pastor of the following churches: Congregational, Randolph, N. Y., 1876-82; Mount Pleasant, Reformed Church of America, Stanton, N. J., 1882-87; Kirkpatrick Memorial, Presbyterian, Ringoes, N. J., 1887-91; Reformed Church of America, Middleburgh, N. Y., 1891-1908; Reformed Church of America, Cloverhill, N. J., since 1908.

He is an Independent Democrat and writes for the public press occasionally.

The following Rutgers graduates are connections by blood or marriage: John Guernsey Van Slyke, A.B. 1866, A.M. 1869, D.D. 1881, clergyman, deceased; George Sharp Knickerbocker, A.B. 1873, A.M. 1876, Coll. P. & S., M.D. 1876; Herman Hegeman, A.B. 1879, A.M. 1882, N. B. Theo. Sem. 1882, clergyman; Edward Burnett Voorhees, A.B. 1881, A.M. 1884, Univ. Vermont D.Sc. 1900, Professor of Agriculture Rutgers, deceased; Theodore Amerman Beekman, A.B. 1882, clergyman; Philip Wilson Pitcher, A.B. 1882, missionary to China, deceased; Warren Clark Van Slyke, A.B. 1895, lawyer.

He married at South Branch, N. J., July 14, 1875, Annie M., daughter of Abram Amerman of that place. Their children are: Le Roy, born in 1876, and Annie Lee, born October 6, 1880.

FITZ RANDOLPH STEWART.

After preparation in Rutgers Prep School he entered the classical course at Rutgers, 1869, naming Samuel B. Stewart of Brooklyn, N. Y., as guardian, and continued with the class of 1873 until the end of the first term, Sophomore year, 1870. Rutgers Alumni catalogues give his residence as Frederic, Md. A rumor current at the time of his death, which occurred July 4, 1871, attributed it to the bursting of a cannon while in the discharge of his duty as an enlisted man in U. S. service. A recent search has failed to discover his name on the rolls of either Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

DANIEL GILBERT VAN MATER.

Died in Santa Fe, N. M., February 11, 1895.

His father was Gilbert H. Van Mater, farmer and merchant, of Holmdel, N. J., and his mother's maiden name was Sarah Holmes. Among Rutgers alumni he had the following relations: Brother, William Augustus Van Mater, B.Sc. 1869, M.Sc. 1872, deceased; cousin, Holmes Van Mater Dennis, B.Sc. 1869, M.Sc. 1872; cousin, Joseph Appleton Van Mater, A.B. 1880, A.M. 1883, E.M. 1911; second cousin, Holmes V. M. Dennis, Jr., A.B. 1894, A.M. 1899; N. Y. Law School, LL.B. 1896.

Born in Holmdel, June 27, 1852, he received his early education there; prepared for college at Mattawan Institute; entered Rutgers in 1869, taking the classical course; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; and left college at the end of Freshman year. He graduated M.D. 1875 at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York City, and then began the practice of medicine at Columbus, N. J., where he resided thereafter. He was president of the Burlington County Medical Society; a member of the Reformed Church of America until 1876, when he became a Presbyterian; and he was a Republican.

He married at Columbus, January 13, 1881, Susan Elizabeth, daughter of Robert and Caroline [Bullock] Aaronson. Children: Ethel, born April 30, 1883; Robert A., born March 9, 1887.

GEORGE SIDNEY WILLITS.

Died at Woodbury, N. J., May 4, 1917.

From the founding of the sect in the seventeenth century the ancestors of both his parents have been members of the Society of Friends. His father, George S. Willits, was a "newspaper man" of Philadelphia and a Civil War veteran of the U. S. Army. His mother's name was Elizabeth Githens.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 21, 1853, he attended the public schools of that city till 1867; Rittenhouse Preparatory Academy, 1867-69; entered the classical section of the Freshman class at Rutgers in 1869; was one of the "Original Football Team"; and left college in 1871, during first term, Junior year.

He was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.,

October 1, 1873; was captain of his class boat-crew in 1874; graduated 1875; and has risen through the various ranks of the naval service until appointed Rear Admiral, March 26, 1913. He was retired for age, February 21, 1915, credited with 15 years, 8 months, sea service, and 22 years, 3 months, of shore duty.

A paper on "Steel Castings," published in the Journal of the Society of Naval Engineers, is from his pen. His church connection has been with the Reformed Church of America, afterward with the Presbyterian Church; he is a Republican, and enjoys rowing, baseball and motoring. He has resided in Boston, Mass., 1877-78; since then successively in Washington, D. C., Brooklyn, N. Y., Philadelphia, Pa., Bremerton, Wash., and since 1909 again in Philadelphia.

He married in Elizabeth, N. J., August 3, 1876, Sylvia B., daughter of Oliver B. and Sarah Gaston. Children: Charles C., born 1878; Grace G., born 1880; Alfred S., born 1882; Jessie A., born 1886; Oliver C., born 1890.

Transfers

In addition to the foregoing the two next following were affiliated with the Classical Section of the class of 1873 during a part of their course, but are now recognized as members of later classes.

ALBERT DOD MINOR.

Died at Mohawk, N. Y., August 11, 1910.

Born at Centreville, Mich., January 12, 1850, a son of Rev. John Minor (Rutgers, A.B. 1842, A.M. 1845), he declared himself self-prepared when he entered the Freshman class at Rutgers in 1869, taking the classical course. He was Junior orator in 1872 and left college directly after. Returning in 1875, he graduated A.B. 1876, A.M. 1879. He was a clergyman of the Reformed Church of America, a teacher, and Chaplain of the 203d Regt., N. Y. Volunteers, during the Spanish War, 1898-99. (For fuller details consult the "History of the Class of 1876.")

GARRETT SMOCK JONES.

Rahway, N. J.

Born at Holmdel, N. J., May 26, 1851, a son of Samuel W. Jones, he entered the Freshman class at Rutgers in 1869, taking the classical course; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; and left college at the end of Freshman year. Returning in 1871, he was a member of the class of 1874 throughout Sophomore year. He is cashier of the National Bank of Rahway. (For fuller details consult the "History of the Class of 1874.")

Scientific Section

Graduates

WILLIAM ALLEN CHAPMAN.

Residence, 11 West Bridge Street, Saugerties, N. Y.

Office, 606 McGill Building, Montreal, P. Q.

In the paternal line one-eighth French, via Guadeloupe, W. I., through his mother one-quarter Scotch, and for the rest descended from the earliest English colonists in New England, he was born October 16, 1852, at Canajoharie, N. Y., where his father was then pastor of the local Reformed Dutch Church. His father, Nathan Farnham Chapman, son of Nathan and Lucretia [Magne] Chapman, was born in Westbrook, Conn., August 17, 1811, a descendant from Capt. Robert Chapman, settler at Saybrook, Conn., in 1635, and from other very early colonists, notably Capt. George Denison and Thomas Stanton of Stonington, Conn.; Thomas Bliss, a founder of Hartford, Conn.; John Howland, who came to Plymouth, Mass., in 1620, and Capt. John Gorham of Barnstable, Mass., who died in the Narraganset war. After attendance at Lafayette College and New York University, Nathan Farnham Chapman was in residence at Rutgers, 1840-43, A.B. 1844; New Brunswick Theological Seminary, 1843-46; was a minister of the Reformed Church of America; and died in Saugerties, N. Y., February 27, 1893. His mother, Mary Doane, born in New York City, January 10, 1817, a daughter of John and Mary [Taylor] Doane, was a descendant of Deacon John Doane, 1630; Elder William Brewster, 1620; and Governor Thomas Prentice, 1621; all of Plymouth Colony. She died in Saugerties, January 11, 1888.

Removing from Canajoharie in 1854, his father was pastor of the church at Plattekill, 1854-64, and of the church at Katsbaan, 1864-73 (both situate in the town of Saugerties, Ulster County, N. Y.), and W. A. C. remained a member of the parental household till 1873, receiving home tuition till 1864; attended the public school at Katsbaan, 1864-66; and prepared for college, 1866-70, in a private school at Malden, N. Y., conducted by Prof. D. A. Wolf, graduate of the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

He entered Rutgers 1870; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; was senior editor of The Targum in second term, 1873; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and was president of the Scientific Section of his class in Senior year; and graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876.

Since graduation he has been engaged in civil and mechanical engineering and allied pursuits; e. g.: field work, New Jersey Geological Survey, 1873; land surveying, Morristown, N. J., 1873-75; water-works construction, Baltimore, Md., 1875-81; railroad construction, Pennsylvania Railroad (Baltimore), 1881-82; and Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Western Railroad (Dunkirk, N. Y.), 1881. He was engineer for Ramapo Iron Works (Hillburn, N. Y.), 1883-99; agent of Continuous Rail Joint Co. of America, at Boston, Mass., 1900-05; agent of The Rail Joint Co., at Troy, N. Y., 1905-15; also manager of The Rail Joint Co. of Canada, Limited, in Montreal, P. Q., since 1905. He has maintained a legal residence in Saugerties since 1900, with domicile in Boston, 1900-05; Albany, N. Y., 1906-15; and since 1915 in Montreal. He is a member of The Engineers' Club, University Club, and Sons of the Revolution (all of New York City), and of the Montreal Board of Trade; enjoys a game of billiards, also out-of-door life, especially camping and angling; is independent politically (though far from that condition financially); is unmarried; and in forty-four years of a busy life since graduation has done nothing notable.

A nephew, William Addison Brainard, was a non-graduate member of the class of 1916.

His great-grandfather, Lieut. Lebbeus Chapman, of Saybrook, Conn., was a soldier in our war for independence.

OSWALD HALDANE.

Died December 27, 1914.

Son of John Hustis and Matilda [Hasbrouck] Haldane, he was born in New York City, May 24, 1850. His father, the senior partner in the firm of Haldane & Co. of New York, foreign agents and merchants in the iron trade, was of the ancient Scottish family of Haldane of Gleneagles; and his mother was of the Hasbrouck family, Huguenot patentees of New Paltz, N. Y., and a descendant from divers early Dutch colonists in Manhattan and Long Island, notably from Capt.-Lieut. Nicasius de Sille, a councillor of New Amsterdam.

Before entering college he resided in the parental home in Cold Spring, N. Y., receiving his primary education there. Then he attended successively the Military Academy in Peekskill, N. Y., a school in Danbury, Conn., and the Charlier Institute, a French school in New York City. He entered Rutgers January 6, 1871; was an associate editor of The Targum in third term, 1871-72; and graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876.

Thereafter he resided in New York City; never married; and died in Massachusetts after a lingering illness which had impeded his activities for many years. He attended the Protestant Episcopal Church; was a Democrat; and delighted in out-of-door life, particularly upon the water. He had studied architecture; was a lover of art; a fine French scholar; a reader of Latin and Italian; was interested in history and genealogy; and was the author of "The Descendants of Colonel Henry Filkin of Flatbush, Long Island," printed in 1878 by the Evening Post Steam Press and distributed privately.

JAMES THOMAS LILLIS.

208 Palisade Avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

Born in West New York, N. J., March 6, 1853, the son of Martin Lillis, carter, and Catharine McCarthy, his wife, prior to 1870 he lived in West New York first and then in that part of Jersey City which was called Hudson City until that year. He obtained his primary education in St. Joseph's R. C. Parochial School from about 1860 till 1863, and a private school, 1863-65; and attended Public School No. 1 and the High School of Hudson City, 1866-70.

He entered Rutgers in 1870; was catcher and captain of the baseball nine; graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876; was secretary of the Democratic Committee of Hudson County from about 1888 to 1893; surrogate in that county, November 8, 1896, to November 8, 1906; has resided in Jersey City continuously since graduation; is a member of St. Joseph's R. C. Church; and still enjoys the spectacle of a good game of baseball.

He married in New York City, June 3, 1877, Alice, daughter of Phelim and Ann Dooley. They have children: Martin, born October 20, 1879; James, born April 3, 1883; John E., born May 8, 1886; Ann A., born February 18, 1891.

HENRY AUGUSTUS NEILSON.

Died in New Brunswick, N. J., May 6, 1912.

Son of John C. and Helena [Neilson] Neilson; grandson of John Neilson, an eminent M.D.; great-grandson of Brigadier General John Neilson of New Brunswick, N. J., a soldier in our war for independence; he was born June 9, 1854, in New York City; resided there for a time in childhood and afterward continuously in New Brunswick. After preparation in Rutgers Prep School he entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Delta Phi; and was an orator at Commencement when he graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876.

Following a post-graduate course in chemistry at Rutgers, he was associated with Schiefflin & Co. of New York City; later with Janeway & Carpenter of New Brunswick; and finally for many years was a member of the firm of Thomas Strahan & Co. of Chelsea, Mass., manufacturers of wall paper, and manager of their New York office.

He was a Republican; an alderman, 1894-95; a director of the New Brunswick Savings Institution; a vestryman of Christ Church (Protestant Episcopal); a member of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York; also a member and one-time president of the Union Club of New Brunswick. Always an enthusiastically loyal alumnus, he acted as chief inspector of election of alumni trustees for several years, and at the time of his death was president of the Association of the Alumni of Rutgers College, and one of the executive committee of the Rutgers Club of New Brunswick.

James Neilson, Rutgers, A.B. 1866, A.M. 1869; Hamilton, LL.B. 1869; Trustee of Rutgers since 1886; is a relative.

He married in New Brunswick, June 1, 1881, Joanna, daughter of Robert H. Neilson. She survives. Their children are: Robert Hude, born June 11, 1882; Rutgers, A.B. 1903; Harvard, LL.B. 1906. Mary, born September 15, 1883; married H. B. Carpender of New Brunswick, N. J. Helena Bleecker, born October 12, 1885; married Lieut. Arthur S. Carpender, U. S. N. Katherine McClelland, born February 17, 1892; married Laurance P. Runyon of New Brunswick; Rutgers, B.Sc. 1899, M.Sc. 1903; Columbia, M.D. 1903.

MYRON RANDALL CHAUNCEY PECK.

Died in Hartford, Conn., March 29, 1890.

Son of Samuel S. and Eliza [McCullom] Peck, he was born October — (or November —), 1849, in Albany, N. Y. His father, a wholesale grocer in Albany, died in 1852, and the son continuing his residence there received his early education under private tuition. After graduating at the Experimental Department of the State Normal College in Albany, he entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Chi Phi; was an editor of The Scarlet Letter, 1873; and graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876. He attended Albany Medical College one year, 1873-74; then the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, where he graduated M.D. 1876; and continued his medical studies in Heidelberg, Germany, and Vienna, Austria, 1877-80. He practiced medicine in Albany and was an instructor in Albany Medical College, 1880-81; was attached to New York State Emigrant Asylum, 1882-85, first as "colleague to the physician-in-chief," later as "physician-in-charge," stationed on Ward's Island, New York; then resumed private practice in New York City till about 1888, when he went to Hartford, Conn., to assume the duties of a connection with The Travelers' Insurance Co. He was a Republican and never married.

CLARENCE PETERS.

117 Clinton Avenue, Newark, N. J.

Son of George M. and Sarah Minerva [Booth] Peters, he was born March 4, 1854, in Newark, N. J., where he has continued his residence. His father was a manufacturer in Newark, an alderman, trustee of the City Home, and member of Essex County Road Board. After preparation in Rutgers Prep School he entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Chi Phi; and graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876. He is a manufacturer, assistant treasurer of Peters & Calhoun Co., president of Peters Harness & Saddlery Co. of Newark and New York; is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church; a Democrat; unmarried; and enjoys bicycling. Two brothers are alumni of Rutgers, namely: Frank Moyer Peters of the class of 1875, and Harry Mortimer Peters, A.B. 1883, A.M. 1886; Columbia, LL.B. 1885.

WILLIAM PICARD STEPHENS.

742 Avenue A, Bayonne, N. J.

Son of Henry Louis (artist) and Charlotte Ann [Wevill] Stephens, he was born in Philadelphia, Pa., August 5, 1854, and resided there till 1859. Subsequent residences have been: Rahway, N. J., 1859-62; Elizabeth, N. J., 1862-63; Rahway, 1863-81; West Brighton, N. Y., 1881-86, and Bayonne, N. J., since 1886.

He prepared in private schools in Rahway and Elizabeth, 1863-68, and for one year, 1869-70, in Rutgers Prep School; entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Alpha Sigma Chi (now merged in Beta Theta Pi); and he graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876.

He is independent in politics and contributes to the press articles on canoeing, yachting, boat-building and similar topics.

He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 27, 1886, Ellen M., daughter of Gordon H. and Katherine A. Pike. Children: Kenneth, born October 16, 1887; Harold and Marjorie, born December 6, 1888 (died in infancy); Annie, born February 8, 1890 (died in infancy); Herbert, born March 14, 1891; Edith Hazel, born October 11, 1894; Eleanor, born March 13, 1899.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

"Shortly before graduation my friend, the late Edward F. Brooks, of the class of 1872, obtained a position for me in the engineering staff of the Pennsylvania Railroad, where I worked with him under our chief, [the late] F. M. Vanderloef, of the class of 1868, in the first steps of the vast scheme of improvement since realized by this great organization. The great panic that came but three months later put a sudden stop to this work. . . . For the next three years I was employed more or less irregularly as the work was resumed and then stopped. As my taste was for marine work, in either ship or engine building, and the railroad outlook was discouraging, I entered the Roach Ship Yard, at Chester, Pa., working for two years [1878-79] in the erecting gang, installing the engines aboard ship. This experience was similar to the previous one. The effects of the panic were still felt as late as 1879, ship building was in a depressed condition, and there were long periods of idleness. My chief diversion in my college days was boat building, and in the frequent intervals when work was slack on the railroad or in the shipyard, I amused myself by building canoes and making solitary cruises. . . . As I improved in the self-taught art of canoe building and sold each boat after using her, I found a growing demand for the decked canoe, and gradually drifted into designing and building of canoes and later of the small cruising cutters which, like the canoes, were introduced from England. . . . As my interest was now centered on canoeing and yachting, in 1883-84 I gave up building to take the editorship of the Yachting and Canoeing Department of The Forest and Stream, then and for many years after the leading American authority on these sports. In 1900 I left this paper to take a similar position on one of the then new automobile papers [The Motor Review] starting a department devoted to the gasoline marine engine and power yachting. This led in turn to a study of the automobile, and for a time the editorship of The Automobile, but the habit of a lifetime is hard to overcome, and I drifted back into yachting, my work since 1904 being the editorship of Lloyds' Register of American Yachts. While my achievements have been but small and insignificant compared with men like Brooks and Loree who started on the same course at about the same time, I hope that my work has accomplished something for the technical advancement of yachting and the maintenance of a high standard of fair play and good feeling in this noble sport."—Abridged from an article in Rutgers Alumni Quarterly, October, 1916.

CHARLES FREDERICK STILLMAN.

Died in Plainfield, N. J., April 30, 1892.

For his ancestry consult the record of his elder brother and classmate, Thomas Bliss Stillman. Other Rutgers alumni of his family were his younger brother, William Maxson Stillman, B.Sc. 1877, M.Sc. 1880, Columbia LL.B. 1879; and his nephew, Albert Leeds Stillman, A.B., 1905, M.Sc. 1910, Columbia, E.M. 1909.

He was born July 21, 1854, in Plainfield, N. J.; resided there till 1879; then removed to New York City, and thence in 1889 to Chicago, Ill. He attended the high school in Plainfield; entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; was an associate editor of The Targum in first term of Senior year; also in that year was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; and was a Commencement orator when he graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876. He also graduated M.D. 1877, at College of P. and S., New York City.

Very early in his career he became a highly esteemed and skillful physician, "a man of brilliant reputation as an orthopedic surgeon, whose writings on that subject were accepted as standard works by the medical profession"; an inventor of mechanical appliances, "especially designed to relieve suffering from fractured limbs and hip diseases"; and an expert in examination for life insurance. A prolific writer on professional topics, his published books include about twenty titles and his pamphlets and magazine articles are exceedingly numerous. Athletic in build, handsome, of distinguished carriage, always courteous, he was a well known man about town and a social favorite. Of clubs in New York City he belonged to the Lotus, Union League, Kennel, New York Yacht, and Lambs. He was a member of the Seventh Day Baptist Church; a Republican; enjoyed all manner of athletic sports and was a lover of dogs and horses.

He married at Mystic, Conn., March 28, 1878, Harriet E. Greenman.

They had one son, Charles Kirtland Stillman, M.D., born July —, 1879.

His professional engagements and associations: City Physician, Plainfield, N. J., 1877-79; Adjunct Professor Orthopedic Surgery, New York Polyclinic Institute, 1882-83; Professor Orthopedic Surgery, Women's Medical College Infirmary, New York; Orthopedic Surgeon, New York Infant Asylum; Lecturer on Physical Examination for Life Insurance, University of Vermont; Medical Examiner, Travelers' Ins. Co. of Hartford, Conn. (about 1887); Medical Examiner, General Agency, Mutual Life Ins. Co., New York; Professor Orthopedic Surgery, Chicago Polyclinic; Permanent Member, American Medical Association; Member American Orthopedic Association; Member New York County Medico-Legal Society; Member New York County Medical Society; Fellow, Chicago Academy of Medicine.

His most important books: "A Manual of Physical Diagnosis"; "A New System of Surgical Mechanics"; "A Practitioner's Manual of Orthopedic Surgery"; "The Life Insurance Examiner"; "A Practical Résumé of Modern Methods Employed in the Treatment of Chronic Articular Ostitis of the Hip," 1891.

THOMAS BLISS STILLMAN.

Died in Jersey City, N. J., August 10, 1915.

He was the eldest son of Charles Henry and Mary Elizabeth [Starr] Stillman; was born May 24, 1852, in Plainfield, N. J.; and was given the name of a progenitor, Thomas Bliss, who was one of the founders of Hartford, Conn., 1635. He dwelt in Plainfield till 1874. His father, born in Schenectady, N. Y., January 25, 1817, the son of Joseph Stillman (a soldier of the War of 1812), and Eliza Ward Maxson, was a graduate of Union; a practicing physician; Mayor and President of the Board of Education in Plainfield; and sent three sons to Rutgers. The others were: Charles Frederick, B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876, M.D. (Coll. P. & S.) 1877; and William Maxson, B.Sc. 1877, M.Sc. 1880, LL.B. (Columbia) 1879.

His mother, born September 7, 1821, was of the eighth generation in descent from Dr. Comfort Starr, a settler in Boston, Mass., 1635; also of the eighth generation from Elder William Brewster of "Mayflower" fame. Her great-grandfather, Sergeant Vine Starr, and her grandfather, Sergeant Jesse Starr (both of Groton, Conn.), served in the War of the Revolution, and her father, Albertus, in the War of 1812.

He acquired his early education in Hamilton, N. Y., and in Alfred Academy (now University), Alfred, N. Y.; entered Rutgers 1870; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; in 1873 was an editor of The Scarlet Letter, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, was awarded the Cook Prize in Mineralogy, also the Murray Prize for second Best Thesis, and graduated B.Sc.; then took a post-graduate course in chemistry for one year and was made

[Kindly paste this in your copy of the "Chronicles of the Class of 1873—Rutgers College" at page 35, in correction of lines 19-24 as printed originally.]

THOMAS BLISS STILLMAN.

His professional engagements and associations:

Stevens Institute of Technology:

Instructor in Chemistry, 1874-75 and 1881-85;

Professor of Analytical Chemistry, 1885-1903;

Professor of Engineering Chemistry, 1903-1909;

City Chemist of Bayonne, N. J.; City Chemist of Jersey City;

Chemist of Medical Milk Commission, Newark, N. J.;

Analytical Chemist (commercial) in New York City, 1877-1915.

M.Sc. 1876. After teaching chemistry in Stevens Institute of Technology, 1874-75, he studied two years in the Fresenius Chemische Laboratorium at Wiesbaden, Germany, receiving his diploma in 1877, and from 1881 till 1909 was an active member of the faculty of Stevens, which gave him the degree of Ph.D. in 1883. He also conducted a business as analytical chemist in New York City 1877-1915. He resided in Hoboken 1877-1913, and in Jersey City 1913-15; and was a member of the N. Y. Chapter of Mayflower Descendants, the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York, and the Order of Washington. A foremost chemist of his time, he contributed to various technical periodicals many monographs on chemical topics, the most valuable being incorporated later in two books published by the Chemical Publishing Co., viz., "Engineering Chemistry," editions of 1900, 1905, 1910; and "Examination of Lubricating Oils," 1912.

He married in Baltimore, Md., November 3, 1881, Emma Louise Pomplitz, who survives. Children: Albert Leeds, born June 14, 1883, Rutgers A.B. 1905, M.Sc. 1910; Columbia, E.M. 1909; Anita Mary, born in 1887; Thomas Bliss, born in 1890.

His professional engagements and associations: Stevens Institute of Technology: Instructor in Chemistry, 1874-75 and 1881-85; Professor Society; American Institute of Mining Engineers; Societe Chimique de 1903-1909. City Chemist of Bayonne, N. J.; City Chemist of Jersey City; Chemist of Medical Milk Commission, Newark, N. J.; Analytical Chemist (commercial) in New York City, 1877-1915.

Member: American Electro-Chemical Society; American Chemical Society; American Institute of Mining Engineers; Societe Chimique de Paris; International Association for Testing Materials; Corresponding Member: Edinburgh Society of Arts and Science; Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft; Fellow: Society of Chemical Industry of London.

CHARLES TOWNSEND VAN SANTVOORD.

Died in New York City, July 5, 1895.

Only son of Alfred and Anna Margaret [Townsend] Van Santvoord, he was born March 16, 1854, in Albany, N. Y.; resided there before entering college; attended local schools and prepared in a boarding school at Lake Mohegan, N. Y. His father was the founder and president of the Hudson River Day Line, operating passenger steamers on that stream. He entered Rutgers 1870; joined Delta Phi; was president of the Scientific Section of his class 1871-72; was an orator at Commencement when he graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876; and was a Trustee of Rutgers, 1893-95. After graduation he entered the service of his father's company, became the treasurer and the "successful and most diligent general manager of a unique steamboat organization." One winter during suspended navigation he attended lectures at a medical college in New York. His residence in that city was at 38 West 39th street, and there he succumbed to a surgical operation for appendicitis. He was fond of boating, riding and shooting; never married; and was a member of the University, Union, Seawanhaka Yacht, and New York Yacht Clubs.

ELBRIDGE VANSYCKEL.

Bound Brook, N. J.

His father, Elbridge Vansyckel, once a commission merchant in New York City, later a farmer in Bound Brook, N. J., who died in 1901, was of the fourth generation from Reinier Van Sickelen, settler, and his ancestry included also "Major Phillips, one of the earliest settlers of Maine; Thomas Warne, one of the twenty-four Proprietors of New Jersey; Thomas Lord, a founder of the Hartford colony; and Thomas Carhart, an associate of Dongan, first English governor of New York." His mother, Bethany Stewart Dunham, who died in 1917, was a descendant of "Rev. Edmund Dunham and his son, Rev. Jonathan, founders of Seventh Day Baptists churches in New Jersey." His younger brother, Rev. Nehemiah Dunham Vansyckel, Rutgers A.M. 1885, General Theological Seminary B.D. 1893, Professor of Theology, was in the class of 1882 at Rutgers.

He was born in Jersey City, N. J., March 10, 1852; removed to Bound Brook; received primary education from a family governess; attended Villeplait's French School, Plainfield, N. J., 1865-66; The Bessac French School, Bound Brook, 1866-68; and fitted for college at Blair Academy, Blairstown, N. J., 1868-69.

He entered Rutgers 1870; was a member of Alpha Sigma Chi (now merged in Beta Theta Pi); an associate editor of The Targum; was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, January, 1873; and at graduation was awarded the Murray First Prize for Thesis, also for general scholarship the German Oration, which was the sole honor assigned to the Scientific Section of the class. He graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876; and in 1881 was elected a member of the New York Academy of Science. Although he is a proficient mathematician; has been a "contributor to the Mathematical department of the Yates County, N. Y., Chronicle, 1873-79; to the Mathematical Magazine, 1879-84; to other mathematical publications from time to time," and has published historical articles in local papers occasionally since 1896; by preference he is a linguist, having mastered French, Spanish, Italian and German, all of which he has taught, as well as Latin, can read Portuguese and Provençal; and has prepared for college many students in modern languages and mathematics.

He read law, 1878-80, in the office of Judge John J. Armstrong at Jamaica, N. Y., and was admitted to the New York bar 1880, but never practiced in that state.

He attends the Protestant Episcopal Church; has been a member of Solomon's Lodge, No. 46, A. F. & A. M., since 1876, and of Keystone Chapter, No. 25, R. A. M., since 1884 (both of Somerville, N. J.); is a Progressive in politics; once fond of rowing, he now makes a hobby of fruit culture. He never married.

His residences and occupations: 1873, Bound Brook, N. J. Geological Survey, field work in Warren county; 1874-77, Neshanic, N. J., instructor in Mathematics and French, Neshanic Institute; 1877-81, Queens, N. Y., principal of graded school and law student; 1881-84, Bound Brook, surveying—private practice and for Somerset County; 1884-86, Wilson's Point and Lake Providence, La., U. S. Government Survey of Mississippi River; 1886-88, Kingston, N. Y., Instructor in Mathematics and French, Golden Hill Seminary; 1888-90, Kansas, Title searching and draughting; 1890-91, Flushing, N. Y., Instructor in Mathematics, Shorthand and Spanish, Flushing Institute; 1891-98, Bound Brook, Motive power department, Central Railroad of N. J.; since 1898, Bound Brook, Assistant County Engineer of Somerset county (roads and bridges), with private engineering practice.

HERBERT FULLER WATTSON.

Escondido, California.

Born July 16, 1853, in Greeley, Delaware County, Iowa, he removed to Clayton, N. J., in 1865 and attended the public school there irregularly till 1870. His father, Robert Miller Wattson, has been described as "machinist, forwarding and commission, farmer and horticulturist, and physically one of the strongest men that ever lived. When sixteen he lifted seven hundred pounds with one arm." His mother, Lydia Fuller, was of Connecticut and Montgomery County, N. Y., stock.

He came to Rutgers 1870; graduated B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876; passed some time in Colorado and California, but returned to Clayton, which he finally quitted in 1884, and has resided since in Idaho, Washington and California. He has experienced all of the vicissitudes of pioneer life; enjoys baseball, and is an amateur horticulturist and melon-grower. He says that politically he is a "Dissenter."

He married in California, 1889, a lady whose baptismal name was Edith.

WILLIAM HALL WILLIAMSON.

Died in Philadelphia, Pa., April 22, 1905.

His father, Isaac Van Doren Williamson, merchant and farmer, who died in New Brunswick, N. J., April 2, 1872, was of Dutch extraction and a grandson of Cornelius Williamson of Neshanic, N. J. His mother, Marie-Louisa Schenck, daughter of Gilbert and Rachel [Van Liew]

Schenck, was of the seventh generation in descent from Martin Schenck, Dutch immigrant 1650; a granddaughter of John Schenck, captain in the Revolutionary War; and of the fifth generation from Frederick Van Liewen, Dutch immigrant, 1670, of Huguenot origin. Four members of the Schenck family, his near relatives, were Rutgers alumni, viz.: Louis Hoff, A.B. 1874, A.M. 1877, Trustee of Rutgers 1905-10; John Ludlow, A.B. 1883; Sam. Corle, A.B. 1889, A.M. 1894; George Brown, class of 1893, who died January 23, 1897.

Born April 26, 1855, in Flagtown, N. J., he resided in Fairview, Ill., 1856-60; removed to New Brunswick, N. J., 1860, and attended the public schools there till 1868. After preparation in Rutgers Prep School, 1868-70, he entered Rutgers, 1870, and was a Commencement orator at graduation, B.Sc. 1873, M.Sc. 1876; practiced civil engineering, 1873-76; and conducted a private school, 1876-78, at Neshanic, N. J. He entered the New Brunswick Theological Seminary 1878, graduated and was licensed to preach, 1881, and thereafter was an active and successful minister of the Reformed Church of America. He was a Republican.

He married: First, in Somerville, N. J., December 6, 1883, A. Jeanette Barnes. Second, June 2, 1902, Caroline Allison Bitting. There were no children.

His pastorates: 1882-83, Annandale, N. J.; 1883-89, Tappan, N. Y.; 1889-92, Irving Park (Chicago, Ill.); 1892-99, Grand Rapids, Mich., First Church; 1899-1905, Second Church of Philadelphia, Pa.

Non-Graduates

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS CONKLING.

Died in 1874.

Coming from Mansfield Academy, Brooklyn, N. Y., he entered the Scientific Course at Rutgers, 1870, and joined Delta Phi, but at the end of the first year he left to enter mercantile life. With his signature in the matriculation book is coupled the name of "Mrs. N. T. Conkling, 192 Washington St., Brooklyn," supposed to have been that of his mother. No more has been learned of him.

TEUNIS GARRET BERGEN CORTELYOU.

122 West 94th Street, New York City.

He was born February 22, 1855, in Flatbush, Long Island, N. Y., the son of Peter Lefferts Cortelyou, farmer, and Jane Bergen. Removing from his birthplace at an early age, he resided in Matawan, N. J., till about 1875, and since that time has lived in New York City or vicinity.

He came from Glenwood Collegiate Institute to Rutgers in 1869; was in the class of 1872 one year and in the class of 1873 two terms, 1870-71. His occupation is "clerking"; he is a Democrat; and a member of St. Agnes Church in 92d street.

He married in Brooklyn, N. Y., December 15, 1889, Ella H., daughter of James M. Rowan, and they have one son, T. G. B. Cortelyou, Jr., born May 19, 1891.

JOSEPH ADDISON CROWELL.

Iron Mountain, Mich.

The founder of the family, Edward Crowell, is said to have changed his name from "Cromwell" when he emigrated from England to Woodbridge, N. J. Our subject was born in Rahway, N. J., September 28, 1853; attended the Collegiate and Commercial Institute, New Haven, Conn., 1866-68; then was engaged in orange culture in Florida; and entered Rutgers 1870, affiliating with the class of 1873 till nearly the end of the first year. He studied medicine in Philadelphia and later in New York University, where he graduated M.D., 1880, and has practiced as a physician since.

He married in Metuchen, N. J., September 5, 1882, Leonora Schumacker. They have four daughters, Getinke, Ruth, Leonora and Jeanette, and one son, Joseph Addison.

His father, Joseph Tucker Crowell, was a printer, editor and publisher, President of the New Jersey Senate 1862, Speaker of the New Jersey House 1865; and his mother was Electa, daughter of Elkanah and Mary Phillips [White] Vanderhoeven. Two of his forebears, Joseph Crowell and Timothy Bloomfield, were soldiers in the Revolutionary War.

JAMES KETCHUM DUNSCOMB.

Residence, No. 351 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

Office, Nos. 39-41 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

Born in Albany, N. Y., December 17, 1853, the son of Edward and Catherine [Russell] Dunscomb, he has continued to reside in that city, where his father was a wholesale lumber dealer who died in 1872. He attended private schools and the Albany Boys' Academy, and was with the class of 1873 two years, 1870-72. He is a Republican, and a member of the Fort Orange Club in Albany. He married in Albany, January —, 1890, Amelia Bewsher. There are no children.

His occupations: 1873-81, Clerk, Mechanics & Farmers Bank; 1880-82, Lee & Dunscomb, slate mantels; 1882-89, Phillips & Dunscomb, lumber; 1890, James K. Dunscomb, lumber; Since June, 1891, Treasurer of Albany Hardware & Iron Co.

WILLIAM P. HILLHOUSE.

Denver, Colorado.

He was born August 10, 1853; attended Mount Washington Collegiate Institute, New York City; was resident of New Brunswick, N. J., when he entered Rutgers, 1870, signing the matriculation book as "William Hillhouse"; was a member of Delta Phi; president of the Scientific Section of the class, 1870-71; and he left college at the end of second term, 1872.

He pursued civil engineering in California and Arizona one year, 1873-74; entered Columbia University Law School, 1874, and graduated LL.B. 1876; practiced law in New York City, 1876-88, and in Denver from 1888 until his retirement in 1910; and has been Professor of Equity in the Law School of Denver University since 1892. He has a wife and family.

He protests that the "P" in his name does not stand for "Percy" as printed in Rutgers General Catalogues.

JOHN HENRY HUYLER.

Died at Tenafly, N. J., July 10, 1891.

Son of George and Jane [Hopper] Huyler, born September 12, 1852, at Tenafly, N. J., he attended the local school in boyhood and resided in the paternal homestead all of his life. After preparation in Rutgers Prep. School he entered Rutgers, 1870, and joined Delta Kappa Epsilon, but remained in college only one year. He was a farmer; a member of the Presbyterian Church; a Democrat with "a taste and aptitude for politics"; and was fond of rowing and baseball.

He married in Paterson, N. J., May 22, 1873, Anna Augusta, daughter of Peter Post. Mrs. Huyler survives. Children: Byron M., born September 5, 1878; John Grover, born March 26, 1887; Laura, born September 17, 1889; George, born April 10, 1891.

His civic services: 1874-75, Palisades Township Clerk; 1875-78, Tax Commissioner; 1878-81, Commissioner of Tax Appeals; 1886-88, Assessor; 1887-91, Tax Commissioner; 1889-91, Assessor; 1890-91, Member of the Legislative Assembly.

JEREMIAH B. JOHNSON.

Died July 21, 1895.

He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 18, 1853, a son of Jeremiah and Maria Ann [Johnson] Johnson, both parents being of Dutch descent. He attended private schools in Brooklyn and later in Rahway, N. J., where he resided while studying at Rutgers Prep School; was a year in Rutgers, 1870-71, and then went to Pennsylvania Military Academy,

Chester, Pa. He was engaged in the real estate business in Rahway and afterward in Brooklyn, where he was connected with the Central Congregational Church, and where he married, November 16, 1887, Ella F. Hayward, a lady of English origin. They had two children: Jeremiah, born November 22, 1888, and Herbert B., born September 9, 1891. His sister writes: "My brother was of a retiring nature, leading a very simple, good, domestic life."

JULIO HERNANDEZ MARTINEZ.

A native of Cuba, he came from a boarding school at White Plains, N. Y., to Rutgers in 1870, signing the matriculation book as "Julius Martinez" and referring to "R. Martinez, 11 E. 29th St., N. Y. City." He was the sole member of Zeta Psi in the class of 1873, and he remained in college only one year. No detail of his later career has been found.

WILLIAM MORGAN.

South River, N. J.

Son of Daniel and Catherine [Emley] Morgan, he was born in South River, N. J., June 9, 1852. The father was a blacksmith and wheelwright; the son attended a private school in Old Bridge, N. J., and continued to reside in South River till 1873. He was in Rutgers one year, 1870-71. He is a Methodist; an Independent in politics; and is secretary-treasurer of the South River Building and Loan Association. He married at South River, May 24, 1876, Frances Timmans, and they have one daughter, May Cornell, who is the wife of Edward Lanzone.

His occupations and civic services: 1873-75, manufacturing chemist, Indianapolis, Ind.; 1876-80, telegraph construction and operation; 1880-92, publisher and dealer in school supplies, Whitehouse, N. J.; Since 1892, Undertaker, South River; 1892-99, postmaster, South River; 1912-15, coroner, Middlesex County, N. J.

HENRY LIVINGSTON RUTGERS.

Granger, Washington.

Born August 27, 1852, in New York City, he attended George C. Anthon's school there and after removal to New Brunswick the Rutgers Prep School. His father, John Livingston Rutgers, merchant, was a son of Nicholas G. Rutgers, president of the Ocean Insurance Co. and member of New York Chamber of Commerce, and his mother, Anna M., was a daughter of Col. Robert Le Roy Livingston, U. S. A. and M. C.

He entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Delta Phi; and left college at the end of second term, 1872. He is a Republican and member of the Protestant Episcopal Church; was in the iron trade seven years in New York City and six years in California; the hardware trade twelve years in Minnesota; and has owned a fruit ranch in the State of Washington for sixteen years.

He married in San Francisco, Cal., November, 1881, Mary Macauley. They have one daughter, Luna Macauley, born July, 1883.

EDMUND STEPHENS.

Died at Closter, N. J., March 22, 1913.

Son of James H. and Ida Elizabeth [Pye] Stephens, he was born in New York City March 5, 1854; resided there till 1866; and in Closter, N. J., thereafter. He attended Hasbrouck Classical and Commercial Institute, Jersey City; entered Rutgers, 1870; joined Delta Kappa Epsilon; and remained in college not more than one year. He was a Republican, a charter member of Closter Congregational Church; a traveling salesman and a merchant.

He married at Closter, October 28, 1874, Sarah Maria, daughter of Rev. Eben S. Hammond, Rutgers A.B. 1839, A.M. 1842, and Isabelle Parsell. Mrs. Stephens survives. There are no children.

His occupations: 1871-75, with E. S. Jaffrey & Co., New York City; 1875-80, Merchant in Closter; 1881-1913, successively salesman for, stockholder in, and vice president of the H. Griffin & Sons Co., dealers in bookbinders' materials, New York City.

HENRY CADMUS STRYKER.

222 West 141st Street, New York City.

His great-grandfather, Peter Stryker, was a minister of the Reformed Church of America for 61 years; his grandfather, Herman Barcalo Stryker, ditto for 49½ years; his father, Peter Stryker (Rutgers A.B. 1845, A.M. 1848; N. B. Theo. Sem. 1848; N. Y. Univ. D.D. 1866), was a minister of the Reformed Church of America 32½ years and of the Presbyterian Church 20 years. His mother, Caroline Hankinson Smock, was a sister of Rev. John H. Smock, Rutgers A.B. 1863, A. M. 1866.

He was born in Rhinebeck, N. Y., February 23, 1853; resided successively in Rhinebeck, New York City, and Philadelphia, Pa.; attended sundry private and public schools in New York; also Lauderback's School and the Polytechnic College in Philadelphia, each one year. He entered Rutgers, 1870, and joined Chi Phi, but left college at the end of second term, 1872. He then read law in the office of Judge S. C. Lester, Saratoga, N. Y.; attended lectures at Columbia Law School, 1879-81; was admitted to the bar at Ithaca, N. Y., 1881, in Minnesota, 1884; was clerk of the N. Y. State Bar Association, 1882-83; and attorney for Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Society, 1894. Rutgers made him an Hon. A.M. in 1892. He is unmarried; a Christian Scientist; a Republican; is an organizer and promoter; and enjoys walking and boating.

He claims as cousins more or less remote: Garret Augustus Hobart, 1863; Teunis Garret Bergen, 1867; Charles Augustus Runk, 1874; Daniel S. Schanck, 1875; George Boice Thompson, 1889; Augustus Hobart Smock, 1893; Charles Thiers Thompson, 1908; Merrill H. Thompson, 1919.

His residences: 1871-72, Jersey City, N. J.; 1872-75, New York City; 1875-79, Rome, N. Y.; 1879-80, Enon, Pa.; 1880-81, Jamesburg, N. J.; 1881-84, Saratoga, N. Y.; 1884-1900, Minneapolis, Minn.; Since 1900, New York City.

Transfer

DANIEL S. SCHANCK.

Died March 31, 1901.

Born in 1854, a son of D. S. Schanck of No. 27 Chambers street, New York City, he was in the Scientific School at Rutgers two years, 1870-71 with the class of 1873, and 1871-72 with the class of 1875. He was a member of Chi Phi; a cousin of Henry Cadmus Stryker, a non-graduate of the class of 1873; he became a lawyer and resided in Freehold, N. J. (For fuller details consult the "History of the Class of 1875.")

